Watkins Publishing

Shepperton House, Unit 11, 89 Shepperton Rd, London N1
3DF United Kingdom

Watkins' story dates back to 1893, when John M. Watkins, a scholar of esotericism, overheard his friend and teacher Madame Blavatsky lamenting the fact that there was nowhere in London to buy books on mysticism, occultism or metaphysics. At that moment Watkins was born, soon to become the home of many of the leading lights of spiritual literature.
